

Regulatory statement

The information on this website is solely for the purpose of providing general information about BioCote Ltd and its partners' products and services. The BioCote® website and its links are not intended to act as written, printed or graphic material to accompany the sale or distribution of any article or product treated with BioCote® antimicrobial technology in any country, including any product registered under the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide and Rodenticide Act (FIFRA).

This website should not be used as a source of specific instructions on product use or product claims. All BioCote® additives and protected products should be used in accordance with their labels.

BioCote Ltd and our partners sell and distribute products globally. In some cases there may be regulatory and legal requirements which could limit the products/or the treated articles that are available, the uses for which they are permitted and the claims that are allowed for each country. BioCote® protected products should be distributed, sold and used only in accordance with governmental regulations and the specifications on their labels. Please contact us directly if you require further guidance.
